Overview

Because shipping containers are long, narrow, and have relatively short ceilings, we recommend a surface mountfixture. Linear strip fixtures are ideal as they will lighten up a larger area and the light will be gene.

How many fixtures do you need for a 20 ft container?

20-foot containers require 2-3 fixtures for general storage or 3-4 for detailed work applications. 40-foot containers need 4-6 fixtures for storage use or 6-8 for workspace applications. Position fixtures evenly along the container's length to eliminate shadows and ensure consistent illumination throughout the space.

How much does led container lighting cost?

LED container lighting systems typically consume 75-80% less energy than traditional fluorescent or metal halide alternatives. A properly designed LED system for a 40-foot container operates for approximately $50-75 annually in electricity costs compared to $300-400 for conventional lighting.

What is the best beam angle for a container lighting system?

Beam angles between 90-120 degrees work best for container applications, providing wide coverage without spillage beyond the container walls. Narrower beam angles create hot spots, while wider angles waste light. LED container lighting systems typically consume 75-80% less energy than traditional fluorescent or metal halide alternatives.

Do container dimensions require high wattage lighting?

Container dimensions don't require high-wattage lighting systems. Most customers achieve excellent results with fixtures delivering 50-100 watts and 8,000-15,000 lumens per fixture. Higher wattages create uncomfortable glare in the confined space while wasting energy.
